GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The Infection Control, Healthcare, & Environmental Epidemiology (ICHEE) Section within the Communicable Disease Service (CDS) is hiring a Healthcare-associated Infection (HAI)/Antimicrobial Resistance (AR) Epidemiologist Liaisons (Research Scientist 3). The HAI/AR Epi Liaison (Research Scientist 3) will be responsible for coordinating healthcare-associated infections and multi-drug resistant organism (MDRO) surveillance, response, and containment activities in healthcare facilities throughout New Jersey such as acute care, long-term care, and outpatient facilities. They will assist to coordinate MDRO surveillance, response, prevention, and containment activities and ensures that case information is accurate, complete and reported in a timely manner. The HAI/AR Epi Liaisons (Research Scientist 3) will analyze data gathered during outbreak investigations using appropriate statistical methods and computer software. They will review the collection and cleaning of data reported by facilities through MDRO and Candida auris case report forms. Lastly, with assistance from subject matter experts, they will provide guidance to CDS, regulatory agencies, local health departments, health care providers, hospitals and others during MDRO outbreaks.

The successful candidate will have the ability to work independently, organize, plan, and manage time effectively to complete assignments. The candidate will have excellent written and verbal communication skills and will have expertise and experience with antimicrobial resistance surveillance data, outbreak investigations, infection control, data analysis, and reporting. The ability to travel on-site to healthcare facilities is preferred. Preference will be given to those candidates who have experience working with the antimicrobial resistance data in healthcare or public health.
